

Private Hands-On COOKING PARTIES

The Institute of Culinary Education

There's only one place in New York City where investment bankers don aprons and chef hats, creative directors roll out ravioli and good friends spice-rub lamb loins for one another....

Each event is a lunch or dinner where "hands-on" cooking is the entertainment. Your party will be divided into groups, each cooking a different part of the menu that you've selected. You will learn specific techniques and kitchen "tricks" that will get you thinking like a chef.

Our Chef-Instructors are experienced professionals, and have a comprehensive knowledge of virtually all cuisines, along with the experience to make cooking fun and entertaining. As one of the leading culinary education centers in America, the school's atmosphere and professionalism are geared for a fun learning experience.

These events are ideal for corporate team building and entertaining, as well as personal celebrations including birthdays, showers, or dinner with special friends!

A TYPICAL EVENT

- 3-3 1/2 hours
- 1/2 hour for wine and hors d'oeuvres

Two Format Options

Hands on Cooking: You and your guests actually don aprons and work side by side with the chef.

Demonstration: Your group watches and listens while your chef cooks dinner right in front of you.

Minimum and maximum number of guests, prices and formats will vary from chef to chef. An ICE coordinator will work with you to customize your event.

WINE TASTING • BEER TASTING • MIXOLOGY

Our 2-hour wine tasting, beer tasting or mixology events begin with a bountiful cheese platter and an aperitif appropriate to your theme.

Wine or Beer Tastings $120 per person (based on an 18-person minimum)

Your instructor will then invite you to sit down for a 90 minute tasting of selected wines or beers, focusing on how to evaluate for quality, taste and style. Eight varieties will be sampled and discussed.

Mixology Events $125 per person (based on a 12-person minimum)

Our mixology events are perfect if you like to entertain and are looking to learn more about cocktail making and tasting. Following, a 90-minute hands on lesson focusing on the basics of mixology from the importance of using fresh juices, to how to make the perfect cocktail, to what tools to have on hand when setting up your bar at home. Your group will make and sample seven cocktails. Non-alcoholic variations can be provided.

Our clients get the last word...

"Let me start by saying what a wonderful time we all had last night. Your facilities, presentation, professionalism, attention to detail and most importantly your fun, friendly staff made our experience at The Institute of Culinary Education one we will not soon forget."

—Renee Appelle, NBC Universal

"We had such a wonderful time learning how to slice and dice, reduce and simmer and properly squish raspberries! I know we'll be back next summer!"

—Lisa Soderberg, Winston & Strawn

"You guys are the best! I wanted to do something special with my friends for my 40th birthday. Having a cooking party was the best thing I could have done. I have friends from all stages of my life and it was amazing to have everybody come together—first working on the dishes together, then before long, laughing together. It was simply the best party any of us had ever attended!!! Thank you so much for making my day so special."

—Janice Kravette
